

Alternative Fuel Society

One of the great discoveries of Blanchardville was finding the Alternative Fuel Society (AFS), where we get to sample great varieties of “fuel” and socialize with wonderful people. We keep the gatherings simple. Bring any variety(s) of beer or wine; bring a glass; and bring a snack to pass. We deposit all “fuels” on the table so anyone can try whichever sounds good to them. We have some wonderful brew masters who bring homemade beers and/or wines, which are unique and delicious! We also have some great cooks who love to share their talents with us as well! If neither beer nor wine interests you, some folks have brought others types of brewed or fermented beverages to share. As we say, “it’s all good!”

Being new to the area, finding this group was a great way for us to meet other folks in the area. Some are “transplants,” like us, while others are natives. We have a diverse group of ages and interests and good conversation and laughter are always in abundant supply.

No invitation is necessary! If you’re interested in learning more, please e-mail me.